

Marvin Chambers, PCC, CPC, ELI-MP, MBA

Marvin Chambers is a role model for learning, continuous improvement, and pursuit of excellence. As an Executive Coach, Talent Strategist, Global Speaker/Facilitator and Trusted HR Advisor, Marvin's mission is to coach, teach, mentor, and empower leaders to be the best versions of themselves.

Marvin helps leaders to take their life, leadership, and career game to the next level. He enables leaders to discover their voice, fulfill their promise and unleash their truth on the world. Marvin assists executives in embracing the idea that they do not have to fit into the world; rather, they can let the world know who they are and allow the world to fit around them. With Marvin in their corner, leaders are equipped to breakthrough barriers, embrace their authenticity, and become confident, dynamic forces for good.

Motivated by the belief that human beings have unlimited potential and are equipped to shift to meet the demands of an increasingly volatile and complex world, Marvin specializes in helping leaders get out of their own way to be the change they desire in their homes, schools, communities, and workplaces. His approach integrates best practices in positive change psychology, human resources, emotional intelligence, and motivational intelligence to help leaders tap into their natural genius to achieve extraordinary results.

Marvin has over 25 years experience working for world class organizations including The Coca-Cola Company, AT&T, NCR Corporation, EY, and W.R. Grace & Co, in roles of increasing responsibility. Through these experiences, he has built demonstrated core capabilities in strategic planning, HR development, financial management, executive coaching, change management, performance management, leadership development, success management, and employee communications and engagement. Thus, Marvin has demonstrated ability to help leaders in the following areas:

- Effectively navigating and managing transformational change
- Leading with authenticity and building trust, credibility, and engagement
- Building cultures that value diversity, inclusion, equity, justice, and belonging
- Building a strong personal brand and executive presence (even resurrecting careers)
- Enabling leaders to skillfully connect, mobilize, and motivate stakeholders to achieve results
- Managing challenging work relationships & navigating difficult conversations

Marvin holds a B.B.A. from James Madison University, Finance specialization and an M.B.A. from The George Washington University in Human Resources Management. He is an Adjunct Professor & Instructor in Business and Change at the Trinity Washington University in Washington, DC. Marvin holds Certified Professional Coach (CPC) certification through the Institute for Professional Excellence in Coaching (iPEC) and is a credentialed Professional Certified Coach (PCC) through the International Coaching Federation (ICF). He has also earned a Three Brains Coach Training Certification from the 3 Brain Academy. Marvin is certified to administer and interpret the following assessments: Hogan Leadership Assessments (HPI, HDS, MVPI), SurePeople PRISM, and Energy Leadership Index.

In addition to his work as an executive coach and business consultant, Marvin is a loving husband to Terri, father to Isaiah, and an active leader in his community. He leads civic engagement and community service initiatives through his fraternity, serves as a Mentor for the Year Up and iMentor youth development programs, and volunteers to speak to youth groups on self-confidence, self-awareness, and self-efficacy.
